Promoting Quality in General Dental Practice

PRESS RELEASE

The Faculty of General Dental Practitioners (UK) is delighted to announce that the third edition of Pathways in Practice has just been published.

The new edition of Pathways in Practice has been fully revised and updated in order to keep up with advances in scientific knowledge and clinical techniques, as well as addressing recent changes in national legislation and professional regulations that affect general dental practitioners. There have been a number of changes that also affect professionals complementary to dentistry, in particular, dental nurses whose training and qualification are moving towards NVQ based curricula. All of these issues have been recognised in this edition. New chapters include Clinical Governance, Implant Treatment Considerations, Aesthetic Treatment Considerations, Professionals Complementary to Dentistry and NVQ Oral Healthcare Levels 2 & 3 to name a few.

This two volume edition, written by 73 authors and containing 74 sections, supports the syllabus of the recently restructured MFDGP(UK) examination as well as being a stand alone publication. The easy reference format is suitable for both the individual dentist and for study groups, with the 146 MCQs providing an effective revision tool.

The revision and expansion of this edition of Pathways in Practice serve as reminders of the constantly changing nature of dentistry and the need for all dentists to keep abreast of changes on a day-to-day basis.
